Family-Friendly Frights!

Events for Scaredy-Cats & Horror Lovers Alike

Whether you love things that go bump in the night or prefer s'mores over scares, we have an event for you this fall! The Ringgold Haunted Depot returns each Friday and Saturday from October 17th to the 31st, offering family-friendly activities such as hay rides, face painting, and ghost tours. For a more spine-tingling experience, explore the horrors lurking in the corridors of Ringgold Haunted Depot. Additionally, the Ringgold Events Committee will host two Fall Family Nights at the Market Pavilion with activities like pumpkin painting, a pie-eating contest, a photo booth, movie screenings, and more! This event runs October 18th from 5 to 9 pm and October 25th from 3 to 10 pm. Visit nothinlikeringgold.com for more information.

Building a Better Ringgold

Share Your Thoughts and Shape Our Future

The City of Ringgold, with help from the University of Georgia's Carl Vinson Institute of Government, is creating a 20 Year Vision Plan for our city. This plan will help guide growth, investment, and improvements in Ringgold for years to come. To best serve our community, we need to hear from you! The survey, linked below, only takes 5 minutes to complete. Please share this survey with friends, neighbors, and family so we can gather their input as well. Your voice matters, and we want your help in shaping Ringgold's future.

Fantastic Finales for Exceptional Events

A season of change for more than just leaves, Autumn marks the end of several Ringgold events for the year. Rabbit Valley Farmers Market ends its season with Oktoberfest on the 4th, and later this month on the 24th. The Ringgold Playhouse says farewell with a Comedy Club at Patriot Hall. Another event taking a break until next Spring is Cruzin the Depot, which has its final two Cruise-Ins downtown on October 4th and November 1st. Ending their season with a bang, or two bangs rather, is the Ringgold Depot Opry, whose final regular show of the year on November 8th showcases American Outlaw Music. The finale features Roger Alan Wade, Outlaws By Accident, Lou Neal, and David Brown, and will be hosted by Local 3 News' Hannah Skye. Finally, save the date for a bonus show from RDO on the 21st with famous songwriter, Jeffrey Steele. Details coming soon!
